Virginia Matron Visit in Capital

Mrs. CARTER GLASS, Jr.

The home of Secretary of the Treasury Carter Glass and Mrs. Glass is the mecca for the young social set when their daughter-in-law is visiting there. Mrs. Glass, jr., is as well known and popular here as in her native State.

to meet the Swedish warship, the Fylgia, on its arrival there and to attend the banquet given in honor of the officers. The ship will make a Southern cruise which will include the Caribbean Sea and will later return to American waters and put in at Newport News, where the officers will come to Washington, where they will be widely entertained.

The Minister of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes and Mme. Grouitch will go to New York tomorrow for the dinner which Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the Columbia University, and Mrs. Butler will give in their honor. They will return to Washington Saturday.

Morris Peterson, now attached to the British Foreign Office, has been appointed first secretary of the British Embassy here to succeed Henry Gerty Chilton, who has been promoted to counselor of the British Embassy at Rio de Janeiro. Mr. Chilton will leave for his new post as soon as his successor arrives, which will be about the first of the month.

Hugh C. Wallace, our Ambassador at Paris, will give a dinner and reception in honor of the Shah of Persia on January 10.

ENVOY OF PERU HONOR GUEST.
The Ambassador of Peru and Mme. Pezet were the honor guests at the dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick McKenney gave last evening in compliment to Mrs. Delos Blodgett. Covers were laid for fourteen. Pink roses and lilies formed a beautiful centerpiece and each guest was presented with a lovely corsage bouquet of sweet peas.

Signorita Alice Martinez, of Porto Rico, who was a guest of her relative, Cordova Davila, resident commissioner of Porto Rico, and Mme. Davila, has returned to New York.

Miss Elizabeth Crain, who is a student at Smith College and is visiting her father, Col. Crain, at his residence, 2019 Kalorama road.

Mrs. Medill McCormick has gone to Chicago for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Wild, wife of Maj. Wild, U. S. A., was hostess at a theater party yesterday afternoon.

Miss Eleanor E. Abbott, who is a guest of Col. and Mrs. F. V. Abbott at their residence in Kalorama road, will return today to her home in New York.

MME. GROUTCH HONOR GUEST.
Mme. Grouitch, wife of the Minister of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes; Mrs. Claude Mayo, and Mrs. Benjamin Soule Gantz were the guests of honor at the reception and dance which Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton Fred gave last night at the Washington Club for the Stenwall Jackson Chapter, U. D. C.

Mrs. Howard Sutherland, wife of Senator Sutherland; Mrs. Finis J. Garrett, wife of Representative Garrett; Mrs. Frank Morrison, and Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth assisted Mrs. Fred in receiving the guests. Mrs. Fred also had her daughter, Miss Peggy Fred, with her for the evening.

Maj. Livius Tleusau, military attaché of the Rumanian Legation, and Mrs. Tleusau, who have returned to Washington after an extended absence, have taken the residence, 1750 Q street, for the season. They left town yesterday morning for a brief visit to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Dorothy Williams McComb has returned to Washington from Europe and is with her mother, Mrs. John R. Williams.

Representative and Mrs. Champ Clark and their son, Bennett Clark, have returned from New Orleans.

Quick, Harmless Way To Remove Wrinkles

This season brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. To make an effective wrinkle remover, mix an ounce of powdered salicylic acid and a half pint of water. Bathe the face in the solution—immediately every wrinkle is affected. It acts wonderfully on sagging facial muscles, also, the complexion is remarkably bright and tonic properties. Use it once a day for a while and see how it will improve your facial contour. This simple lotion cannot harm the most delicate skin. The treatment itself leaves no trace—no one guesses the secret of your increasing youthful appearance. But be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered salicylic acid.

Resinol

Don't wait thinking they will disappear in time. Perhaps they will, but in the meantime you are suffering from the burning and itching, and allowing your nerves to become badly affected, when a little Resinol Ointment would doubtless relieve it all.

Unless the skin affection is caused by some internal disorder, Resinol Ointment usually clears it away because it contains harmless, and soothing antiseptics for such conditions. It can be used easily for it is so nearly flesh-colored that it does not attract attention. At all druggists.

CHILDREN'S SUNRISE STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE CAT'S CRADLE

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily lounged, the bunny rabbit gentleman, was sitting all alone in his hellow stump bungalow, the telephone bell rang.

"Mr. Langens went to the telephone and heard a voice saying: 'Oh, Nurse Jane! Will you please come over and amuse Squeaky-Eekie a little? She has a cold and can't go out, and I don't know what to do with her.'"

"Well, as it happens, Nurse Jane isn't here," spoke the gentleman rabbit, "but I'll come."

"That's perfectly lovely of you!" said Mrs. Longtail. "I'll tell her you're coming."

And when Uncle Wiggily reached the mouse hole in the barn, where the Longtail family lived, the little cousin mouse seemed more cheerful.

"Now let me see, what shall we do? How would you like to play 'Button, button! Who has the button?'" said Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, I don't like that game!" whined Squeaky-Eekie.

"She doesn't like that game! Hum! No, of course not!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, still jolly.

"We have about cat's cradle?" he asked, tossing his tail, silk hat high in the air so it almost hit the ceiling.

"Shall we do that?"

"Yes," answered Squeaky-Eekie, and she was smiling and happy now.

"Oh, how cute!" exclaimed Squeaky-Eekie, as she saw Uncle Wiggily finish making his cradle of string.

"But this isn't the best part of it," said Mr. Longears. "I'm going to fasten the cat's cradle onto two chairs, Squeaky, and you may go to sleep in it."

So the cat's cradle of string was strung between two chairs like a hammock. Uncle Wiggily put a blanket in so the little cousin mouse wouldn't fall through the holes between the strings, and then Squeaky-Eekie took her place.

"Oh, how nice!" she whispered. Uncle Wiggily gently swung the cat's cradle to and fro, and he sang a little song like this:

"Sleep, mouse, sleep, in your cradle deep! Pussy dogs won't bark at you, Popsy cats won't scratch at you; I'll see that you don't fall through. So you need not weep!"

And then Squeaky-Eekie went fast to sleep, as Uncle Wiggily rocked the cat's cradle of string. And then, all of a sudden, the bad old Poodle-Oodie, who had been scared away the day before, when the beaver boys combed the snails out of his hair—the bad old Poodle-Oodie came in the mouse hole house.

"I want mouse!" he started to bark.

"Hush! Be quiet," whispered Uncle Wiggily. "Don't wake Squeaky-Eekie!"

"Pooh! What do I care about that?" said the bad chap. But brave Uncle Wiggily took up some strong string he had left over from making the cat's cradle. And the rabbit gentleman suddenly wound that string around the nose and mouth of the Poodle-Oodie, until he couldn't bark a snitch, to say nothing of biting mouse.

"Now you run away!" ordered Uncle Wiggily.

And the Poodle-Oodie ran away, not even waking up Squeaky-Eekie, and later on, when the cousin mouse jumped out of the cat's cradle, her cold was all better. So, you see, it's a good thing to know how to cat loopy, and if the catloopy doesn't pinch the tail off the pickle fork when they're playing tag in the bread box, I'll give you next about Uncle Wiggily and the key and the Poodle-Oodie.

Virginia Lee's Personal Answers To Herald Readers' Questions

Love affairs are all very well in their place, but the office is no place for them. Of course, the "bug" love is such a funny thing that we cannot forbid its presence in an office, but we can do a good job of hiding it until after the day's work is over. As a general thing the office affair is not the real thing at all, and simply a means of amusement for the rest of the employees.

The girl who enters a business office should do so without any lurking hope of a love affair. More than one busy man has had to dispose of a good stenographer because she insisted upon looking "moon-eyed" at him. Neither does a man feel that he is getting the best out of his office force if they sit in pairs around the room and turn their desks around each time the object of their affections goes to another corner of the office.

Of course there is a possibility of persons meeting each other in an office and becoming the best of friends.

An office is no place for the extremely sentimental. There is work to be done and it is impossible to obtain the best from an employee who is wondering if her profile is as good as a straight front view, and if there is enough powder on her nose.

Even the most machine-like employer wants his force to be neat and clean, but he'll never miss a few grains of powder or rouge and he'll probably be much happier without them.

Ink Spots on Silk.
Dear Miss Lee: Please advise me how to remove ink spots from a white silk blouse.—B. H.
Dilute mineral acids or oxalic acid should remove writing ink stains from silk goods.

Care for Another.
Dear Miss Lee: Will you kindly tell me what to say to a girl I love dearly, who for some reason cares more for someone else than she does for me? I know that she loves me, but she has made it a million little ways to show me that she doesn't love me as much as I love her.—L.
If the girl really cares more for someone else her regard for you can't be what you think it. It may be that she thought she loved you until she met another person, and then she decided that she loved him more. In that case if you really care for her you will want her to be happy with the man she loves. On the other hand it may be that she is merely interested in both you and it is only right that you should have a number of good loyal friends. If she acts toward you as of old, try to take matters as they are and do the little things she likes as if you were the one who cared for her. If her manner toward you has changed, I would suggest that you talk over the matter with her, frankly, and come to some definite conclusion about just where you stand. We can make no headway groping in the dark.

Miss Gordon Entertains.
Miss Anne Gordon, daughter of Mrs. George Barnett, will entertain a number of the debutantes at a luncheon today.

Mrs. George Barnett received yesterday afternoon at the commandant's house, Marine Barracks, for the first time this season. She was assisted by her daughter, Miss Lelia Gordon, and Miss Anne Gordon. Mrs. Henry Mustin and Mrs. C. Phillips Hill, sisters of the hostess, presided at the table.

Miss Lelia Gordon has returned to Washington after visiting New York and Philadelphia.

Admiral and Mrs. Rosalind Fairfax Nicholson have returned to their home on Jefferson road, after an absence of two years. Admiral Nicholson, although retired, was during the war naval attaché to the United States Embassy in Chile.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis are in New York for a week. This evening Mr. Ellis will entertain twelve guests at the Ohio Society dinner at the Waldorf, at which Senator Harding will speak.

The Congressional Club will give its bimonthly dinner this evening. The monthly business meeting will take place Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

At the Friday afternoon tea, Miss Dorothy Smoler, formerly with Paylow's Ballet Russe Company, accompanied by Miss Nellie Smoler, local teacher of dancing, will entertain.

Mrs. George King and Mrs. Bert M. Jewell have been added to the committee in charge of the card party and dance to be given by the Dixie Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, on January 15 at the Washington Club.

ANOTHER WAY TO USE SHOE HORN
Time and temper may be saved in putting on children's tight rubbers by using a shoe horn. In the same way, in the case of tight shoes, the horn may be slipped in next to the leg, in buttoning the top of the shoe.

SILK SWEATER IS FAVORED GARMENT

A silk navy blue sweater is a comfortable and attractive garment which keeps warmth in the body and at the same time does not burden with its weight.

The sweater here photographed is light, easy to wear, and is appropriate with any sort of frock except an evening gown. It corresponds to the smoking jacket of a man in the house, for comfort, and on the street, worn underneath a coat, is an attractive addition to the dress as well as an added protection. White frilled collar and cuffs add to the daintiness of the sweater for indoor wear.

HINTS ON CLEANERS.

Water in which potatoes have been boiled is the best thing with which to sponge and revive a silk dress.

Scorched spots in cloth can be removed by wetting the spot with water and covering with borax.

EXCELLENT LEATHER POLISH.

To keep leather-covered chairs in good condition a polish must be applied frequently. Equal-parts of linseed oil and turpentine mixed make a good polish. It should be applied with a soft darning needle and polished with another flannel.

HOROSCOPE.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1920.
The Sun and Venus rule with good effect on humanity today, according to astrology. Mercury and Neptune are adverse.

There is a most favorable sway under which to seek an appointment or a position. Women, especially, should benefit.

There is a lucky sign for weddings and engagements, the meeting of friends and the giving of dinners. Speech is now subject to a rule making for increase in power and popularity, so that it eclipses writing as a means of commanding public attention.

Again theaters benefit. Initial performances should be successful. Two great plays will be produced, the seers foretell.

This is not a favorable day for the signing of documents of any sort. Letters should be written with special care, for misunderstanding is easy during this rule of the stars.

Neptune is in a place encouraging to the spreading of evil report. Slander, double-dealing and misrepresentation are foreshadowed.

While the public mind may be easily poisoned during this configuration there are indications of a reaction in favor of persons who suffer from libelous and untruthful gossip.

It was prophesied that in the new era the potency of thought and its silent processes of communication would be so well understood that there would be a prohibition against even evil thinking, but before this stage of

UPSTAIRS SHOP

BERNARD ROSEN, Prop.
Second Floor
503 SEVENTH ST.
Over People's Drug Store

In order to reduce still more our operating expenses we find that if we could bring our customers to our Upstairs Shop on Tuesdays and Wednesdays as they come during the other days of the week, it would cut our expense considerably and regulate our business besides. Now we cannot come to you and ask you to do your shopping when "we" want you to do it. But what we can and will do is to give you certain inducements to make it worth your while to even go a little out of your way and buy on Tuesdays and Wednesdays instead of Mondays and Saturdays when we are terribly rushed and cannot give you the service we would like to. And this is what we will do:

We Will Give You 5 Per Cent Off on Every Garment You Buy on These Two Days

This holds good on all the dresses we have advertised at $8.75 up, and coats at $13.75 up. We will even hold them for you by making a small deposit if you are short of money.

But let it be understood that this 5 per cent off is for purchases made on these TWO DAYS IN THE WEEK ONLY.

Our skirt department is ready for you with a full line of regular and stout skirts.

Don't Pamper Your Stomach

Fear of Dyspepsia Robs the Entire System of Necessary Nutrient. Eat a Diversified Meal and With Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets You Will Avoid the Distress of Indigestion.

Just because the stomach suffers with gasiness, heartburn, water brash and such distresses after eating is not a good reason for depriving the system of nourishment.

Instead of indigestible and unwholesome food, eat what you like the better plan of eating what you like is to follow your stomach's hints. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest food, they assist the stomach to secrete, they keep the stomach sweet, active and with the alkaline effect, just as when the stomach is in perfect health. Nor is it necessary to discriminate. You may eat freely of onions, sausage, mince pie and baked beans, or other dishes, such as the average dyspeptic views with horror, and suffer no distress if you follow with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. There is thus no need to fear any kind of food at any time or place, for with these tablets you may prevent those distresses that formerly made you pamper your stomach as if it were a tender infant.
